

The Rainbow Dragon

The rainbow dragon is a type of dragon.

Would you know a rainbow dragon if you saw one? They are like most dragons and have huge wings, large jaws, and a long tail. Nearly all of them are coloured like a rainbow. However, some have been seen that are a beautiful golden colour. Furthermore, most of them are as small as cats.

Rainbow Dragons live in caves on mountains. Also, they like to sleep on their treasure which must be uncomfortable for them. Some of these dragons sleep in tree tops and make their nests out of cushions and pillows.

Rainbow Dragons eat the leaves of trees, vegetables and fruit. Their favourite meal is to eat the petals off different flowers. This helps to keep their skin brightly coloured. They have to eat something for each colour of the rainbow! Also, they like to drink coconut milk shakes.

These dragons make excellent pets as they are easy to house train. First, you must keep them in your bedroom but soon they will be able to fly around the house.

Finally, the most amazing thing about Rainbow dragons is that they glow in the dark, tell amazing stories and sing in a sweet voice.
