Respect and recognise the differences and similarities between people.	Identify what contributes to who we are.
Debate topical issues, respecting other people's points of view/constructively challenging those they disagree with.	Recognise their individuality and personal qualities.
Understand and challenge stereotypes.

Useful conversations to have at home:

- Encourage discussion about how they are the same/different to their friends, peers at school/clubs and reinforce the idea that differences should be respected and celebrated.
- Watch films such as Mulan or Brave which challenge gender stereotypes and encourage them to follow their interests and likes/dislikes regardless of any gender stereotypes.
- Discuss the British Values:
-respect and tolerance
-individual liberty.
