

A Walk in Paris - Salvatore Rubbino

Are you curious to find out about a picturesque, charming city? Full of twists, turns and travels, you will be transported to one of the most beautiful places in the world. If you are eager to explore then come and take a walk through Paris!

You will need:

- An attentive tour guide
- Pair of sensible and comfortable walking shoes
- A map of the city
- Bottles of water
- An umbrella or sun cream, depending on the weather!

Taking a walk through Paris:

1. First, exit the metro station at Place Maubert. Here, you can buy tickets.
2. As you meander across one of the oldest street markets, be sure to take in all of the smells and sights.
3. After that, walk across the Latin Quarter. Situated at the end is the fountain at Place St-Michel, where everyone stops. Take a slow stroll along the riverbank to admire the view of the River Siene.
4. Next, cross the bridge to take you to one of the greatest landmarks in the city. Do you know what it is? Look up!
5. Head right, down a small side street near to the water's edge. This will take you past bistro's, brasseries and patisseries.
6. Immediately on your left is a strange-looking building. Look at the pipes and escalators that run around the outside of this gallery, the Pompidou Centre, famous for modern art.
7. Continue travelling onwards in order to turn into the main entrance of the Louvre museum. This ancient palace in the middle of a courtyard holds national treasures.
8. Listen out for the sounds of a train - this is your cue to find the nearest station to take the next metro.
9. Do you remember the Eiffel Tower? Take the first left as you exit to face this astonishing structure!

A final note:

Be sure to capture your walk round Paris by taking several photos. Make them into a souvenir so that you will always remember your visit!
